

LETTER TO FAMILY and FRIENDS

(Adapted from "Winsome Witnessing," by Gary Gibbs)

Dear _____,

I am currently taking a class to help me know the Bible better. I enrolled with the desire to grow in my personal understanding of the Bible, and I'm really enjoying it and learning a lot.

Since part of my course involves helping other people to understand and enjoy the Bible, I am sending this letter to you and other friends and family who I thought might be interested in helping me.

A special set of Bible study guides has been designed for me to give to others. The guides are written so that people of all faiths can enjoy them. They are colorful, informative, and inspirational. They cover topics that are of interest to most people, such as: "If God is so good, why is the world so bad?", "What does Bible prophecy have to say about our day?", and many others. Do you think this is something that you can help me with?

The guides are ideal for busy people. They are a free set of lessons that I will be able to give to you. You have a choice about how you will receive these guides. They can be done either through the mail or in person with me. Of course, the latter method really makes me learn the material and would be of special help to me.

I do hope that you will be able to take these simple Bible lessons. I appreciate your considering this request. If you are unable to at this time, I understand. I will phone you in a few days to see if you would enjoy these lessons and can help me with this class I am taking.

Sincerely,
